thus circulating through the whole system, no part of the body can escape their turly wonderful influence.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can for a momant he comparad with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. In all cases of female debility (fuor almo, chlorosis, etc.), its effects are delaghtfully renovating. No remady has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active, and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use. As a grand stomachic and general restorative it has no superior and no substitute.

Put up to ment flat mental boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; als boxes, $30.00; one dozen backs, $40.00. Pur sale by Druggista generally. Will be send free to any address or seception of the givine. All fete ters, orders, etc., about be addressed to

"God bless you, Raynall"
The moment Raynel was gone, Camille beckone a lieutenant to him and ordered half the brigada I form a strong column on both sides of Death's Al lev.

"Heve you any one at Beaurepaire who would be sorry if you were killed?"
"Yes, Colonel, Jacintha that used to make your broth, Colonel."
"Take this line to Col. Reynal. Yen will find him with the I the brigade."
If wrote a few lines in penell, folded them, and Dard went off with them, little dreaming that the colonel of his brigade was taking the trouble to save his life because he came from Beanrepaire.
Colonel Daj rdin than went lune his reft and closed the aperine, and took the good book thepries thad given blim, and prayed humbly, and firrave all the ward.
Then he set down, his heaft in his bands, and the ught of bla child, at dhow hard it was to die and new race him. Coa tad sob at this—one only. Then he lighted a catelle, tealed up his orders of vaior, and wrote a lite begging that they might be sent to his sister. It is elso easied up his pures and left a memoranium that the catents might be given to disabled; solliurs of his brigade upos their own, hard ited.
Thus he took out Jasenhine's letter.

Fo pereist in war would ruin Russis; he could not, rith honor, ask for peace but his successor might. He therefore obtained potson from his physician, potent enough to preduce death after a few hours interestinate. He also sent the physician away from St. Petersburg, with a written declaratic of his ferced complicity to insure his foture eafety, and then the Emperor exultiowed the poison. The also and successor, new the Emperor Alexender and told his all. Dumas says the Grand Date "would have cried out for help, but the Emperor Pevented him by an order to positive that as a see and a subject the could not disober his father and his overeign. Then the Emperor explained to him in detail the motives which had indused him to take this herois etcep. The young prince, broken bearted, the takes to goth, flustened of a Democratic republic of quality and cleaned power his gothern and the property of the except his provisions, and the word, and the condition of the death of

This certainly is the noblest epitaph that could be written over the grave of the deepet Nicholas, end the world wil agree with Dumee that such a death might be less Christian, but more glorious than his whole life. But the romancing novelist, in writing a very pretty fenilistee, is not supported by the facts of history. Alma and lekermann were serious revereer, but not such disasters as to produce the such disasters are season as supersition; and, as for salicy and such as a supersition; and, as for salicy and such as a such as a supersition; and, as for salicy and such as a supersition; and as a such as a such as a supersition; and as a such as a such as a supersition; and as a such as a suc

Nor was the profir them made because a mere little wart on the osea like Russian Empire had been cut off. The change of solicy then adopted was induced by the determination of Prussia and Austria to join the Angle-French alliance. It is thus evident that if Nicholas poisoned himself to praserve the hooter of his country and avoid the mortification of changing his place, he did not succeed, for his son persisted in the same stabborn resistance which marked the outset of the Crimean war, and showed his statesmasship by doing. Alexander proposed peace at Sebastopol for the same reason that Louis Napoleon suggested the armistics after Solferino—the affair was assuming an enexpected proportion and magnitude, was becoming involved it new complications, and drawing all Europe into its vortex. A Railread Map of the Ucited S'a'ez, published by J. Sage & Svan, of Buffale, is one of the most useful egibles to travelers and man of business which the public accessive has yet augusted. It is one a large scale, centrains tha routes of all the principal and branch roade in the country, the hanne of the different stations, and their distances apart. One is surprized when the net work that covera the Calon is considered; time and apace are almost annihilated by the fertility of modern inventive genins. Mr. John F.
